LONDON, June 4.—Bremen, German port second in importance only to Hamburg, was blasted early today in a large-scale raid by the British Royal Air Force.

Strong forces of R. A. F. bombers diverted their attention after two nights of bombing in the industrial Rhineland to the northwest coast of Germany for an attack on the Reich's shipping facilities.

While the R. A. F. bombers concentrated on Bremen a unit of Britain's famed commandos carried out a daring early morning raid on the occupied French coast near Boulogne.

Heavily Bombed

"Bremen was heavily bombed and the Dippe docks and enemy airdromes in France and the low countries attacked," an air ministry communique said.

"Mines were laid in enemy waters.

"Ten bombers and two fighters are missing."

Bremen, situated on the navigable Weser river 46 miles inland from the North Sea, has extensive shipbuilding facilities.

The Reich's best railway lines connect Bremen with the heart of the German industrial area.

The armed transport, a vessel of 6,000 tons, was sent to the bottom with the probable loss of all troops aboard, the communique said.

The two supply ships sunk were heavily loaded and also armed. One was of 6,000 tons and the other of 10,000 tons.

A third cargo ship of 7,000 tons was badly damaged.

Announcement of the successful attacks by United States submarines followed an earlier communique reporting enemy submarine attacks against United Nations shipping in waters in the vicinity of Sydney.

British Commando Raid Near Boulogne

By JOHN E. LEE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 4—British commando forces carried out a daring raid in the vicinity of Boulogne on the Nazi-occupied French coast early today and obtained valuable information.

Special service troops, their faces covered with black paint and their feet shod in sneakers, went ashore in the Boulogne-Letouquet area.

The brief communique issued by headquarters of the combined operations command did not reveal whether the raiders encountered opposition from Nazi forces.

The operation was supported by units of the navy and the landing and re-embarkation covered by protecting planes of the Royal Air Force.

"A minor reconnaissance raid was carried out in the early hours of Thursday on the occupied coast of France in the Boulogne-Letouquet area," the communique said.

Reports As Yet Meagre On Damage Done By Alaskan Attacks

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 4—Reporting that the situation at Dutch Harbor "is at present quiet," the Navy declared today that the second wave of enemy planes that swept over the base failed to drop any bombs but it was intimated that they were on reconnaissance probably in preparation for further attacks.

The Navy's 86th communique based on reports received up to 12 noon said: "The situation at Dutch Harbor is at present quiet. Yesterday's first raid by the Japanese appears to have been made primarily to test our defenses. High explosives and incendiary bombs were dropped but, as previously announced, casualties were light and damage was not extensive."

WASHINGTON, June 4—United States armed forces and civilian defense personnel today maintained a round-the-clock vigil along the Pacific coast from Alaska to the Panama Canal against fresh Japanese aerial attacks following two Nipponese bombing raids upon the American naval station at Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian Islands.

Despite the fact that enemy planes struck twice in six hours at the Dutch Harbor bases off the coast of Alaska, the belief prevailed in the capital that the attacks were forerunners of an aerial blast at some other point on the mainland.

Non-Essential Auto Travel Limit Of 2880 Miles Yearly Is Seen

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A limit of 2,880 miles a year on non-essential automobile travel was under consideration today as the issue of national gasoline rationing neared an expected final verdict at President Roosevelt's cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Direct action by the Chief Executive appeared inevitable to resolve a conflict which has provoked a storm of hostility in congressional quarters and left the nation's war planners at odds on major details of the program to curb the use of 33,000,000 passenger cars.

Disclosure that millions of motorists might be restricted to less than 3,000 miles of driving annually came as the office of price administration announced details of the permanent program for the 17 Atlantic states from Maine to Florida.

In such an event, the weekly gas-

Chinese Embassy Attache Urges U. S. To Be "Ruthless"

By GEORGE DURNO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—An extremely intense spokesman for the Chinese embassy was disclosed today to have told a gathering of prominent business men that the United States and Great Britain must adopt the "ruthless" tactics of their barbaric Axis enemies in the future conduct of the war.

Victor Kwonglee Kwong, embassy attache, speaking at a dinner of the Optimistic club, strongly inferred that now is no time to be settling a peace that is still far from won, and warned that the Japs and Nazis are tough fighters and will stop at nothing.

"If, by any chance, enemy bombers should fly over these coasts, unload their bombracks and then parachute to safety, don't intern them in some nice spot like Hot Springs," Kwong urged. "Shoot every damn one of them."

Radio Silence Along Entire Coast Ordered By Army Command

SEEK JAPS IN ARMY UNIFORMS

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Warned by Japanese attacks on Alaska which marked the first time in history enemy air bombs ever fell on North America continent, civilian defense volunteers from Seattle to San Diego were ordered on the alert today for any emergency.

A radio silence along the entire West Coast from the Canadian to the Mexican border, ordered last night by the Fourth Army Command, was still in effect at an early hour this morning. There was no indication when radio stations would be allowed to return to the air.

Fourth Army authorities announced that the radio silence was ordered "as a precautionary measure" in view of the situation yesterday. No further details were revealed.

At the same time, residents of the West Coast Military Area No. 1 were warned by the western defense command to report any Japanese seen in American Army uniform.

Army officials said that all Japanese in uniform have been removed from the region comprising the western defense command and Fourth Army except three men now on special duty at Fort Ord, Calif.

Any Japanese individual dressed in army uniform and appearing in the Fourth Army area should be assumed as possibly being a fifth columnist, officials said.

bombed the Jap-held base of Rabaul, New Britain. Fires were started in both the dock and barracks area.

General MacArthur's communique did not disclose the area in which the Jap ships were sunk, merely stating that the attack was made on "enemy shipping lanes."

The action of the lone United States submarine was a brilliant retaliation for the loss of the one United Nations cargo vessel.

The American vessel accounted for destruction of 22,000 tons of enemy shipping in sinking the three Jap ships in successive operations.

Although no announcement was made on the probable number of Japanese troops lost in the sinking of the transport it was believed that at least 1,000 were aboard.

The earlier communique announcing the loss of one United Nations cargo ship off Sydney indicated that the vessels attacked by the Japs were part of a convoy. All other ships went unscathed.

"Over here, people refer to the 'Pearl Harbor treachery,'" Kwong said. "Treachery it was—but it was also very smart business from the Japanese viewpoint, for it caught the United States unawares and gained them a tremendous advantage in the Pacific.

"The United States must become more dynamic. Its armed forces must adopt the same tactics. American and British fighters must abandon their old-time chivalrous approach to war and become just as ruthless as their enemy."

of Tamar, six miles west of Knightsbridge, 28 miles southwest of Tobruk.

Taken Tuesday

Tamar was taken on Tuesday while Rotunda Signali fell Monday. The advances beyond the line running southward from Elgazala to Bir Hacheim has enabled the British to harass the Axis units from the rear.

It was disclosed that Italian troops which failed in a previous attempt to smash Free French forces holding Bir Hacheim moved up again near the defense positions Wednesday but did not attempt to launch an attack.

A British column to the rear of the Italians attacked the enemy spearhead.

The communique said that a large number of German Stuka dive-bombers attacked Bir Hacheim but were "successfully engaged."

Fresh British tank forces were thrown into the desert battle as Marshal Rommel appeared to be attempting a possible resumption of his offensive.

Gap In Minefields

The Axis tank and artillery units continued to control a 10-mile gap through the minefields guarding the British main positions on a line from El Gazala on the coast to Bir Hacheim, 50 miles inland.

British patrols were active behind the Axis advanced forces and were attempting to cut Rommel's supply lines while their reinforced tank columns closed in on the German and Italian forces still trapped west of the minefields.

The battle was being fought in a terrific desert heat which hovered around 100 degrees and virtually broiled the tank crews in their mobile steel fortresses.

The heaviest fighting was reported southwest of Knightsbridge, approximately midway between Bir Hacheim and the coast.

British headquarters admitted that Rommel's tank and artillery units were holding a 10-mile gap in the main British lines despite all efforts to dislodge them. It was expected that he would attempt to bring up supplies through this passageway and resume his drive towards Cairo.

But the British were counter-attacking heavily following the capture of the Axis stronghold at Segnali, more than 30 miles to the rear of Rommel's advanced forces.

In Conference

The British nobleman, who is chief of combined operations of the British land, sea and air forces, is expected to participate in the important behind-the-scenes diplomatic talks now underway between the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

In addition to being a vice admiral of the fleet, lieutenant general of the army, and air marshall, Lord Mountbatten also is leader of the famed British Commandos.

He is known to favor offensive land action against Germany in western Europe at the earliest possible moment, and is a strong believer in the effectiveness of the commando raids as a method of demoralizing the enemy.

The belief prevails in some British quarters that the American high command has not full appreciated the importance of the commandos as a new combat unit, and it is thought that one of the purposes of Lord Mountbatten's visit will be to impress Washington with the advisability of training American troops in that type of fighting.

The main object of Lord Mountbatten's visit, however, is believed to be in connection with the second front discussions.

"The re-embarkation of the special service troops by units of the royal navy was covered by aircraft of the Royal Air Force fighter command. The royal navy provided a naval escort."

The last previous commando raid in the Boulogne area, made April 22, also was termed a "small reconnaissance." The commandos stayed ashore for two hours and withdrew without losing a man.

Nazi defense forces were taken completely by surprise and the British protecting naval force damaged a trawler and set fire to another in the previous raid.

The Boulogne raid today, like the one in April, apparently was devoted to obtaining information rather than destroying definite objectives, as was the case in the strong combined commando, naval and air assault March 282 on the Nazi-held St. Nazaire naval base. Large damage was done to docks and harbor works at St. Nazaire. The main dock gates were blasted when a destroyer loaded with explosives was rammed into them intentionally. Several commandos failed to return from this assault.

Special Significance

Some special significance was attached to the new raid on Boulogne due to the presence of the chief of the commandos, Lord Louis Mountbatten, in Wasnington for talks with United States military leaders.

The Daily Mail said that the arrival in Washington of Lord Mountbatten, a cousin of King George VI, raises the prospect of combined British and American commando raids in the near future.

The Boulogne sortie was the fourth raid on coastal areas of France during the past three months. It was the seventh landing by British forces on enemy-occupied territory since March, 1941.

In a damaging raid 12 miles north of Le Havre an important Nazi plane-detector was destroyed.

Attacks also have been made by the commandos against Nazi bases in occupied Norway.

R. A. F. IN LARGE SCALE RAID ON CITY OF BREMEN

to the southeast coast shortly after dawn. The enemy squadron was broken up and driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

While the British bomber forces were winging their way toward targets in Germany a unit of the famed commandos conducted a landing raid on the French coast near Boulogne under protection of naval forces and aircraft. Valuable information was obtained by the commandos, a communique said.

(A German news agency dispatch broadcast by the Berlin raido said that British planes had raided a number of northwest coastal towns, damaging residential and business quarters with incendiary bombs. It was claimed the R. A. F. lost 10 planes.)

A girls' school and an air raid precautions depot, as well as a number of homes, were destroyed when the Luftwaffe returned to England to make a sharp attack against a south coast area.

Shower Incendiary Bombs

The attack on the English south coast lasted for "some time" as the Germans showered the area with numerous incendiary bombs. Few high expwlosive bombs were dropped.

Fires broke out mainly in residential sections but were soon brought under control. There were some casualties.

The British also pursued night assaults against the occupied coast of the continent.

Four German planes were shot down over Europe and a fifth over England.

Considerable damage was done to Nazi bases in afternoon sweeps yesterday. Royal Air Force squadrons swarmed across the channel almost continuously in big-scale attacks. A flight of 200 participated in one attack.

Vying with the bomber command which is now able to send 1,000 bombers over Germany nightly, the fighter command revealed that it, too, had reached a 1,000-plane operation level.

About 1,000 fighters were in operations across the channel in the 24 hours up to dawn Tuesday, it was disclosed.

BOMB RAIDS ON GERMANY

ABLASE world that has grown skeptical of all war bulletins was at first prone to disbelieve British claims of damage inflicted on Cologne and the Ruhr Valley by the RAF, but apparently authentic information from Germany has confirmed everything that was claimed for this blow at the Nazis. There appears to be no doubt that the score stands at more than 20,000 killed and 50,000 injured.

Reports that populations of other large Rhineland cities are migrating inland to escape future raids picture an exodus that presages disintegration on the German home front. Migrating hordes of people do not produce armament for a world conqueror.

Over 1000 planes were involved in the raid. On the basis of 1,000 bombers, one British conjecture is that 100,000 men were required to organize this flight in the scores of airdromes used as bases.

This is 100 men per bomber, an estimate that can include nothing more than the actual ground troops engaged. American authorities estimate that to put a loaded bomber in the air no fewer than 750 men are required, starting with production of the plane, guns and ammunition and going on through the various services essential to its loaded operation.

This largest of all raids, requiring a degree of organization that elicits Mr. Churchill's admiring comment, must take the mind of Britain back to Dunkerque, when a small, desperate and heroic air force managed to drive off German dive-bombers so that the men on the beaches could be embarked. Britain remembers also the terrible raids on London in September, 1940, and the virtual obliteration of smaller cities. Now, at last, Britain is able to answer.

Speculation as to whether a second front would be opened this year has been answered. There is a second front—an air front—and it will wreak havoc on Germany many times greater than could be inflicted by a land army, however large. A thousand bombers are taking part in single raids on Germany now, two thousand will soon be over the land of the Nazis in a single night. And the Germans will not be able to take it.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR SHIPS

Apparently the men who operate ocean-going ships are not disturbed by the prediction of an aviation engineer, Grover Loening, that airplanes as freight carriers will supersede surface vessels.

They assert that the railroads have never achieved much in heavy freight carriage through competing with shippingg and they do not think that aviation can do more in this field than has been done by the railroads. They point out that the air freight rate between New York and Buenos Aires is roughly five times that charged for surface transportation and declare that when air lines can bring their rates down to twice that of the steamship freight tariffs the threat of air rivalry will become potent.

Robert C. Lee, executive of a large shipping firm in New York, says:

"Air express already carries urgent frieght and planes are doing a good job of it. No doubt in the future we will be having fresh fruit for breakfast that was picked in the previous thirty-six hours in Argentina or Chile. There will be other cargoes of that type. But the picture of a cargo of 8,000 tons of Brazilian coffee, picked up at a terrific cost by a fleet of airplanes in Rio and transported to a distribution center, say Milwaukee, leave the shipping man's blood pressure just where it was."

AT WAR WITH BALKAN STATES

Declarations of war against Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania, as proposed by the President, and already approved by the House, properly recognize that these "two by twice" Balkan countries, which declared war on us some time since, did so at the instance of Hitler. But we also have to consider that they, or rather the camarillas of Nazi-loving politicians running their governments—also at Hitler's instance—are sniping at the United Nations in various ways.

A war declaration should at least give our government more effective control over any of their nationals in this country who may be disposed to emulate their Quislingite rulers. Also, since these small nations are so definitely linked to the Nazi war chariot, their leaders may as well understand that they will have to take all the consequences Hitler has let them in for, when the day of reckoning arrives.

THE "LOOM"

The term applied to a sky-glow over a lighted city is "loom." This, a familiar illumination in the heavens over prairie cities, is being put under the ban in coast cities because it has been found that viewed from sea landward the "loom" silhouettes a ship at sea sharply, even when the ship is twenty to twenty-five miles off shore, exposing it to enemy submarines.

The "loom" is the product of innumerable lights large and small and the authorities who are trying to get rid of it emphasize the necessity of every householder, however few bulbs he may be using, withdrawing them from the general glow.

The dimouts ordered in the larger seaports in the East were not very effectual at the start. While millions of lights were dimmed, enough were left shedding light into the sky to produce a "loom." Subsequent attempts to do away with it show an improvement.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEACH CHILDREN TO AVOID DANGER

A GOOD MANY little children swallow foreign objects. Among them are pins. No matter how careful a parent is a child may find some dangerous things.

The first time you see him picking up an object don't yell at him. Be calm. Quietly ask him to give it to you and approve him warmly with a smiling "Thank you" as he does. A young child likes to push small things through cracks and holes. Cut a slit in a tin coffee can and persuade him to put small foreign objects into it. He may go searching for long periods of time to find things, just for the pleasure of putting them into the can or of giving them to you to earn your smile. You can also teach him to bring everything not his own to you.

Objects In The Mouth

If the child is found with something in his mouth, don't get excited. Very gently remove it, avoiding, if possible, any resistance. Never snatch a forbidden thing from the child's grasp. Persuade him to hand it to you or, if necessary, give him something else attractive and slowly spirit away the dangerous thing as he relaxes his grasp. Never even suggest punishment in such instances.

If, for example, the toddler has a sharp stick or pointed scissors, and you force them from him once, next time he sees you coming to seize them he will almost surely run away with them. Then what a tragedy if he should fall upon the piercing, cutting thing. Teach him early to carry all sharp-pointed things pointed downward, and until he is ready to be fairly safe with them keep them from his reach.

Punish To Avoid Danger

If he has climbed to a dangerous place, be on your guard. If you shout at him or hasten to seize him, he may fall. Find safe places for him to climb very early.

Let him learn early never to climb to the medicine chest, nor to reach for things above him, as those on the kitchen sink or table. Teach him to avoid the gas jet and the open fire.

The first time he touches the gas jet or reaches for objects above him in the kitchen, give him immediate pain—preferably a spank—saying "no" just once. Be on hand always when he is exposed to those things so he never can repeat without feeling pain. There must be no exception if you wish to get quick and permanent results.

Now for yourself. Never leave medicines nor dangerous objects around where the child can reach them. Don't leave them about at any time.

BRIDE'S LINENS

"Just what items should be included in a bride's linens?"—B. T. P.

Answer: Linens of every description may be included in this list. The quantity will depend upon the size of your future home, as well as your luck in collecting this important part of every bride's trouseau. You may have a supply that will last for years or simply a sufficiency for your immediate needs.

Your bedroom linens should include sheets, pillowcases, bedspreads, blankets and quilts, bureau and dresser covers. Towels of all kinds are necessary—small, dainty guest towels, hand, face and bath towels; bath mats and dish and hand towels for your kitchen.

Your most import :t household linen is that for your dining room. Every bride should possess large and small damask table cloths with accompanying napkins; towels for bread and cake plates; scarfs or covers for the dining table, buffet, serving table and china closet. The quantity of each should depend upon your social life, how much you wish to spend for laundry.

Usually a bride's linen is marked with her own maiden initials, but it may be instead marked with her new initials or perhaps with the bride's and groom's combined initials. All linens bought after the wedding should, however, be marked with the married name or initials.

There was a tired business man, a member of that busy clan that shields itself from prying eye behind that good old alibi—

He rested in his office chair and ducked a lot of toil and care and smoked cigars in sweet content, and thus his busy hours were spent—

Came anxious strangers by the score to camp outside his office door, and angrily they went their way, for he was busy all the day—

And so he died, and at the gate an angel bade him stand and wait and said to him with frowning brow, "St. Peter's mighty busy now—

"How did father take it?" she asked.

"He took it all right," replied the young man.

"Oh, I am so glad, George!" she cried.

"Are you?" he replied, flopping forlornly by her side. "Well, I can't say that I am, dear. At first your father wouldn't listen to me."

"Why didn't you tell him that you had $2,500 in the bank, as I told you to?" she exclaimed.

"I did, after all else had failed," answered George dejectedly.

"And what did he do then?"

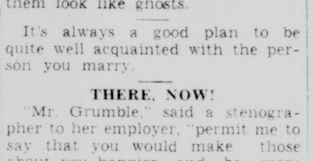

"Do!" echoed the young man, passing his hands wearily through his hair. "He borrowed it!"

EASIER NOW

"Is your boss a hard man to work for, Sadie?"

"He used to be, dearie. He'd put in ten hours a day at the office. But somebody started him playing golf. Call me up some afternoon."

Experiment With Silver For Copper
Tubing Being Made From Vital Metal
Too Expensive For Household Plumbing

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 4—American industry's embarking upon the doubtful experiment of borrowing 50-odd thousand tons of silver from the United States treasury, to substitute for copper, as the metal required to equip our factories, of many sorts, with tubes, pipes and miscellaneous gadgets necessary to their productive operation.

Silver's good stuff for the purpose, but manufacturers object to buying it, for their plumbing, because it's so darned expensive.

Copper's a lot cheaper, but it's in such demand for war utility, which silver's unserviceable for, that industrialists simply can't get enough of it. Silver's lying around, though, in treasury vaults, literally spoiling, in tens of thousands of tons. Industrialists, however, won't buy it, as a copper substitute; it costs so much more.

O. K. Why shouldn't the government loan it to 'em, however?

Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau favors the scheme. Boss Jesse Jones of the Defense Plant corporation indorses it. War Production Board Director Donald Nelson sponsors it.

All they want congress to do is to agree, and Silver state lawmakers, such as Senator Patrick McCarran of Nevada, approve the plan.

Silver a Security

The difficulty is that our governmentalized silver is a security. We have paper money (silver certificates) outstanding against it. Assume that you have a piece of paper, representing one plunk, and you can't realize that amount on it in metal. That's a ridiculous supposition, of course. Still, suppose such a case, in the present disorganized state of the world.

Surmise that you go into treasury headquarters and say, "Here's

by ERICH BRANDEIS

It's pretty difficult to judge current events in the focus of history.

At present, Hitler stands before us as an awesome, brutal, ugly figure of cruelty, conquest and power.

In a hundred years from now he may be remembered only as the little paperhanger with the funny mustache who tried to conquer the world and wound up in a lunatic asylum imagining that he was Napoleon.

And how about old Nap himself—once the most feared man in Europe, before whom a continent groveled?

Today he is remembered as a little fellow with a cocked hat, a lock hanging down his forehead, his head stuck between two coat buttons. And a song, "Get up, Napoleon, it looks like rain!"

In a hundred years from now they will still bless the name of Pasteur, Edison, Beethoven and Marconi.

The telephone, the radio, the sulfanilamides and the airplane will still be monuments to their inventors and discoverers, whose names may have been long forgotten.

Good men live by their deeds; bad men rot in their misdeeds.

Top-Heavy

WASHINGTON, June 4.

SO SWOLLEN in size have the Washington war agencies become that the clogging of the wheels through bungling management and sheer unwieldiness is increasingly clear to many who heretofore have chosen not to see it. Though the situation is not discussed publicly, it is a source of increasing worry to the more competent men here.

ONE OF these is Mr. Donald Nelson, who, the other day, evinced his concern when he appointed an "organizational planning committee", of which Dr. Luther Gulick is chairman, the purpose of which is to survey and weed out in order "to keep us", Mr. Nelson said, "from getting top-heavy". It would have been more accurate for him to have said that we are already so terribly top-heavy that efficient and effective functioning is getting more difficult all the time. The WPB's publicity agents and their aides is a fine example, but there are plenty of others. "Getting top-heavy" is an inadequate description. We are top-heavy.

THE TRUTH is that in creating this war organization there has been no sense of proportion, slight consideration of costs and no exercise of restraint. Apparently, everything was thought of except the relation of compactness to competency. The result is that this war effort machine sprawls hideously all over the place. The various agencies make one think of great, torpid, overfed animals, who weave, wobble and sway instead of working straight in any direction. It is the inevitable consequence of unlimited money and unrestricted power.

THAT COMBINATION, when unaccompanied by balance, judgment and restraint, is a dangerous one,

The World and the Mud Puddles

WHAT IS THE CONSTITUTION?

The Constitution of the United States of America says in Article I, Section 8.—"Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises," etc.

And in Section 10, of the same Article, it goes on to say—"No State shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any imposts or duties of imports or exports, except that may be absolutely necessary for executing its Inspection Laws, and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress."

Have the States adhered to those provisions? They have not. Great trade walls between States and their conflicting highway transportaion laws and regulations have created a situation intolerable in peace time, but doubly so now that we are at war.

Local laws are hindering not only the transportation of war materials and weapons, but their production in some instances. Conservation of scarce materials are also subject to interference. Mr. Nelson, chief of the war production board, cites the acute shortage of paint brushes, which is increased by local ordinances limiting the use of spray painting equipment. And this board is trying to conserve tin plate, but one state has a new law setting standard sizes for baking pans, which has the effect of forcing bakers to buy a lot of new pans.

Washington officials have been urging workers to pool their automobiles for travel to and from their jobs. In Arkansas those following this sensible advice are required to take out commercial vehicle licenses. Some states prohibit junk dealers from transporting loads across county lines.

There have been countless instances of delays in transporting army supplies on account of state barriers. Size and weight regulations for trucks could hardly vary more if the United States were composed of forty-eight little nations. There is also the question of multiple taxation, under which truckers have to pay registration fees in several states, thus adding to the cost of the war program.

One thing is certain, it is time that the provisions of the Constitution of this nation be followed imperatively and that neither state barriers nor any other obstacle shall be permitted to obstruct the nation's program for victory.

Tells Of Destruction Of Rostov Bombing

By STEN HEDMAN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, June 4.—Destruction wrought by the Royal Air Force at Rostock, site of the great Heinkel airplane factory, "was worse than the wildest imagination," Dr. B. O. Allander, noted Swedish scientist and the first authentic eyewitness of the damage done, declared on his arrival in Stockholm today.

A wild spree of looting followed the attack, one of the first in Britain's new program of large-scale raids against Germany, and many persons were executed, Allander said.

"The destruction was worse than the wildest imagination could conceive," Dr. Allander said.

"Entire areas of the city were demolished. Whole long streets were left without a single inhabitable house.

"Now and then I heard new explosions as workers blew up badly damaged buildings.

"The areas between the Rostock city hall and important harbor installations were almost exterminated. The Central Station, the Post and Telegraph buildings, several scientific institutions, the City Theatre and the Old Stein Tor (gate) were totally destroyed.

"It was a miracle that the famour Kroepeliner Tor, the Maria church, the city hall and the university escaped."

Placards posted on the walls of ruined buildings warned that all plunderers would be shot, Dr. Allander said. But in spite of this, new posters soon appeared listing the names of men and women who had been executed for looting damaged houses.

Dr. Allander apparently was not allowed to inspect the Heinkel works and said he had heard three different versions—one that the plant had escaped, another that at least three big buildings were demolished, and a third that the whole plant had burned for three days.

The British planes attacked from an altitude of only 100 feet, Dr. Allander said, and dropped aerial torpedoes as well as bombs.

"Owing to defective German anti-aircraft batteries, only two British planes were shot down in the first four waves of raids. The fifth wave met with stronger resistance and 20 planes were downed," he said.

"Four British staff officers were taken prisoner when they parachuted from planes from which they had directed the attack with searchlights.

"German men and women as well as French war prisoners took part in the rescue work, but there was considerable panic.

"Crowds of persons fled pell-mell into the country without any thought of their ultimate destination."

The Great Game Of Politics

indeed. More than a hundred billion dollars is now available in unexpended balances for these war agencies. In authorizing this inconceivable sum, Congress has given over its control of the purse strings, and there is slight real check upon the expenditure sof the executive No one, of course, wants to cramp for money any genuinue war activity, but under existing circumstances, unless there is at the top some hand to restrain the natural tendency toward excessive size and expansion, things get out of control and the effectiveness of the machine diminishes as the bulk and cost increase.

THAT THAT stage was reached some time ago is the conviction of practically every man in position to have an opinion and sufficiently detached to express it. No one knows today how many civilian employes are now on the Government pay rolls—but what is known is that 5,000 went on in March, and that they are going on now at the rate of 1,000 a week. At this rate the two-million mark for the jobholders will soon be passed, if it has not been already. It is not exaggeration to say that all the war agencies are overmanned and oversized. Every reorganization adds to the pay roll; never subtracts from it.

ONE PENDING reoganization is of the many big information divisions. It is not proposed to reduce or consolidate any of these. It is proposed to create a new director of information who will be at the head, but the existing divisions will remain the same in size and have separate heads as now. In brief, the only change will be the adding on of another top official with the inevitable staff. And while the President delays in the selection of this man, the divisions are mostly in a state of suspended animation. That is the way it goes. Every time there is a change it increases the size of the machine; never diminishes it.

IN CONSEQUENCE, Washington is jammed with thousands upon thousands of confused people who have no business to be here at all. The town is crowded beyond all reason. The newspapers complain of the increase in crime and the inadequacy of the police. Prostitution is said to be rampant and things generally are in a mess. Recently, Mrs. Roosevelt was named as head of a committee which seeks to provide better living conditions. She is a woman of great energy and perhaps some of her plans will work. But there is a surer, shorter and less costly way to achieve that objective. It could be done by inducing the President to call a halt on expansion and inaugurate an era of restraint. It could be done (conceding that he is in earnest and intends to follow through) if the head of every board and commission would, with Presidential approval, adopt Mr. Nelson's plan to survey and weed out. The salutary effect would be felt in many ways.

a 1-bone certificate. Gimme 1-bone in cash."

The treasury's bound in honor and credit to do it.

Now, the imaginary drawback is that the treasury mayn't be able to do it up to the n'th degree.

It's bought tons more of silver that it needs to meet its earlier book obligations. But, in the meantime, it's sucked 'em up so fast that it hasn't got a margin any more. It's asking for CREDIT.

Oh, well, gosh!—it's credit is good.

Nevertheless, it isn't immediate. It WAS previously. It is yet.

The treasury's had tons more than was required to meets its obligations.

But now it won't have technically enough of it for industrial requirements to foot the bill—not enough silver to meet demands.

The dope'll be that a guy with silver certificates won't be able to get 'em cashed.

What'll he do commercially?

Why, he'll butt in on some productive industry, remarking:

"You fellows' plant is silver. It belongs to us under foreclosure—'cause I own the certificates."

And the certificates are the real thing.

The treasury department'll have agreed to it in advance.

Plumbing in Jeopardy

A factory'll be in a nice fix (won't it?) to have all its pipes and things conscripted by silver certificate holders—not only for now, but maybe forever.

OR—if the certificate holders foreclose in a hurry!

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's game is to make the silver and copper buyers divide themselves up reasonably.

He can get away with silver if the copperites will be moderate.

If not, your sanitary domestic plumbing is liable to be levied on by some federal official, in your own household, by one functionary or another, because it's too silvery rather than exclusively coppery.

To date aluminum has taken copper's place considerably.

Now, though, aluminum's getting skimpy.

How about the factory's pipes and things being levied on by silver certificate holders, who can't realize on their silver certificates and who propose to take factories pipes and things out of 'em under mortgage?

It'll be according to Hoyle, technically, as per old time procedure.

We can't wait for excellent fighting ships. To lick the subs, we must use any little wooden makeshift that can drop bombs and carry a gun.

Heart disease is usually considered an adult condition.

It is the leading cause of death between ages 10 and 14.

Many young children die of rheumatic heart disease.

It is the second chief cause of death from ages 15 to 24.

Special treatment for children may restore their hearts.

Heart disease in adults frequently began early in life.

Many persons in the prime of life drop dead from heart disease.

Faulty living habits may be the cause of such deaths.

Or, indifference to infections earlier in life.

With more old people living there is more heart disease.

There are 9,000,000 persons 65 years of age or over.

In this group heart disease means long disability.

Sligo Has Oldest Forest Plantation

HARRISBURG, June 5.—W. E. Montgomery, chief of the division of management, Department of Forests and Waters, states that one of the oldest forest tree plantations in Western Pennsylvania, is located near Sligo, Clarion county.

Early records show that in 1806 William Lyon of Pittsburgh, obtained some small larch and Norway spruce trees which had been imported from Europe, and sent them to his brother John Patton Lyon, who had established a charcoal iron furnace at Sligo. The Norway spruce trees were not planted in any pre-arranged order but apparently were for hedge and windbreak purposes. The larch trees were planted with a more definite plan for there are two small tracts which may be called forest tree plantations.

The love of trees must have been one of the fundamental elements in the character of the early iron masters of Pennsylvania, for many of them were greatly interested in beautifying their properties by the planting of trees.

BOMBS for BERLIN... TERROR in TOKIO!

3 out of every 5 bombs dropped on Axis targets are made possible by Esso research

Basic ingredient of the high explosive TNT is toluol. In the last war, toluol came from coal tar. For this war, the United Nations need many times as much as the coal tar industry can produce. Fortunately, in 1935 Esso research workers, in cooperation with the U.S. Army, found a way to make toluol synthetically from petroleum. Construction of a large commercial plant for the Army Ordnance Department was completed in October, 1941. This plant more than doubled America's TNT output. This process was also shared with other refiners, so that 3 out of 5 bombs will be filled with war TNT derived from ESSO-developed toluol.

House Leaders Seek To Save CCC

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—House leaders today made plans to save the civilian conservation corps while economy forces led a fight to cut off funds for another administration-favored project—the national youth administration.

The House appropriations committee knocked out an allotment of $75,000,000 for the CCC which had the effect of putting an end to this agency, one of President Roosevelt's "pet" depression-time creations.

Funds for the CCC were contained in the $1,000,000,000 labor-federal security appropriation bill. Economy bloc leaders revealed that they will sponsor an amendment to delete $58,000,000 for the NYA which also is contained in the labor-security measure.

During the hearings on the appropriation some members of the committee looked askance on NYA activities and recommended that it should restrict its operations to the "type of industrial training necessary to the war effort."

U-Boat Sinking May Bring Probe

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D) La., chairman of a Senate naval affairs subcommittee, today disclosed that he has launched a preliminary inquiry into U-boat sinkings which may lead to a full-dress investigation.

"We are now getting replies from the navy to some statements which have been made," said Ellender. "If the answers are contrary to the information at hand, we will proceed at once to conduct an investigation."

The inqury extended beyond continuing sinkings of American ships by Axis submarines and covered the whole program of planning and constructing small boats, which now are regarded as important in naval warfare.

Council Delays Rail Removal On Some Streets

Demands Permit Be Taken Out By Street Car Company For Removal Work

Acting upon advice of City Solicitor R. M. White, Council today ordered opening of city-controlled streets by the New Castle Electric Railway Co. disconinued pending a formal request for an excavation permit.

The contractor for the rail company, New Castle Duntile company, started this morning to remove rails in South Mill street. However, police ordered the excavating stopped.

White told Council that, although the city has no control of Highland avenue work or other lanes which he says are state highway continuations, he does not believe the concrete re-fill is thick enough to prove satisfactory.

He pointed out that, when Council grants a permit to open city-controlled streets, of which there are five, the city should ask for a bond which will guarantee the city that the work shall be done to its satisfaction and that an inspector be placed on the job.

T. C. Moore, general-manager of the railway company, maintained the Duntile company was acting for the rail company and would take out a permit. White objected to giving the concern a permit.

The Public Utilities Commission, railway company and city are concerned, and the city will not deal with the contractor, an outside party, White stated.

Pending the request for a permit to open city-owned streets, the Duntile company will continue work on state-maintained highway continuations.

Manager Moore also was asked by Council to arrange for north and south detours of Highland avenue-seventh ward buses when rails are removed at Mill and Washington streets.

Almost 680 Receive Diplomas This Year

Commencement Friday Night Adds 445 More To 233 In January

Senior high school diploma records are scoring a new high this year, with a total of almost 680 seniors graduating in the January and June divisions.

The mid-year group, graduated January 23, number 233. The June group, which will graduate Friday evening, will probably number 445, although high school officials said that figure still might be slightly adjusted before the ceremonies tomorrow.

If 445 graduate tomorrow it means that 678 will have been given diplomas in 1942.

The June class is the largest in the history of the school.

Butler Sanitorium Decision Due Soon

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 4—A decision is expected soon on what shall be done with the $4,000,00 Butler Sanitorium, unused since its completion in 1938 during the Earle administration, Gov. Arthur H. James disclosed today.

"I think that thing will come to a head soon," he stated.

He explained that the departments of health and welfare would decide among themselves whether to put the idle institution to some use. Consideration is being given to using it as a hospital for mentally-defective tubercular patients or transferring tubercular patients from some other institution and using that hospital for mentally-deficient patients.

Reports Four Jap Subs Are Sunk

BULLETIN

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 4.—Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia announced today that four Japanese submarines were sunk during the night off the Australian coast, the Sydney radio said, according to Reuters.

The broadcast quoted Curtin as saying the Jap subs were sent to the bottom when they were attacked near an island off Australia.

The Exchange Telegraph company, in a dispatch from Canberra, said that Curtin told the Australian house of representatives that naval authorities had confirmed that four midget Japanese submarines attempted to enter Sydney harbor and were destroyed.

Garland Plant 100 Per Cent For War Bond Sales

Officials today announced that all West Ptitsburg Garland Manufacturing company employes, numbering 180, have subscribed to the war bond drive.

One of the fine things about this accomplishment is the fact that this perfect record is largely the work of the men employed in the plant.

Approximately four months ago a committee interviewed Mr. Garland and suggested that the company put into action the payroll deduction plan of bond purchase. This plan was immediately instituted and a committee headed by Frank R. Papa went to work.

The company is among the first firms in this area to qualify for the blue treasury flag in the war bond drive.

Efforts of Mr. Papa and his co-workers cannot be too highly praised.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MEETING IN SHARON

Today and Friday, the 133rd anniversary of the Beaver Baptist Association is being celebrated at the First Baptist church in Sharon. Representatives from Baptist churches in Beaver and Lawrence counties and the northern part of Mercer county are attending.

Speakers at the meeting are Dr. James S. West of Rochester, Rev. A. F. Ufford, a missionary from East China, Rev. E. L. Porterfield of Sharpsville and Rev. H. Edgar Shade of Greenville. Mr. Shade is president of the Pennsylvania Baptist convention.

Jap strategy was simple and shrewd: Grab lands that produce rubber. America can't make war without it; and free people will waste what they have.

Student Airplane Builders Do Their Bit In War Effort

It was December 7, at Pearl Harbor; a tragic day in American history. The roar of guns, the crump of bombs and the screams of wounded fill the air. Amid the smoke and roar of battle, what few American planes that were undamaged took to the air and began the old American trick of carrying the fight to the enemy.

But as they got over the American anti-aircraft guns, shells began to come their way.

Out of the situation came the model aircraft program sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education and the U. S. Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

Make 125 Planes

New Castle schools volunteered to make some of the planes and were assigned a quota of 100. Today school authorities announced that over 125 planes are complete, a month before they were to have been done. And this, in spite of a week lost during sugar registration.

"The credit does not belong to us," emphasized the shop teachers, "it must be given to the boys and girls who worked on the planes."

The flat black models from the New Castle school shops represent almost every type of important fighting plane now in service from the Japanese Navy "Zero" and the German ME-110 to the Curtis P-40 and the British Spitfire. The planes are scaled "1 to 72" and are exact replicas in every respect of the most deadly fighters and bombers now ranging the skies over Germany, Russia, Australia, Japan, Britain and the Near East.

As soon as a sizable number of planes is finished they are immediately shipped to the Naval Air Corps fields and training centers and to certain civilian defense centers such as New York and Philadelphia.

For Identification

At their final destination, they are hung in special rooms and Navy pilots and civilian defense spotters must learn to recognize each one in a matter of seconds. Anti-aircraft gunners are taking the same training. The Navy wants no repetition of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

The spotter looks at the plane through a telescope-like device that gives a depth perspective so that when one of the models is ten feet from his eyes it looks exactly like the real thing a mile away. Since instant and accurate identification of each and every plane seen in wartime is essential, the models must be done right.

So far New Castle has shipped out 50 planes; not one was returned for imperfection.

Such accuracy speaks well for the ability of our junior and senior high school workers. The planes are made from soft white pine and most of the work is done by plain old-fashioned whittling and sand-papering. One slight slip with the knife can ruin an entire plane. Yet in less than three months, 85 boys and girls were able to surpass their quota by more than 25 when even the teachers had given up hope of being able to complete the program.

The boys and girls who deserve the credit for this worthwhile and patriotic work follow. Who knows but that some day in the near future because of their painstaking work some Navy pilot will save his life because he recognized his enemy before the enemy got him?

Senior High School. Others participated, but their planes had not been completed when this report was compiled.

Raids By 2,000 Planes Likely

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 4.—With the aid of American dive-bombers long on order and expected shortly, Great Britain and the United States soon will send as many as 2,000 planes a night over Germany and 30,000 separate attacks a month are anticipated, an authoritative spokesman said today.

Some of these sorties may be carried out by single planes, it was emphasized, but the seemingly fantastic figure of 30,000 was mentioned specifically as proof of the present rapidly growing striking power of the Royal Air Force.

Thirty thousand sorties a month will mean at the very least that American and British planes will be in virtually constant operation against Germany and occupied territories—day and night. It means 1,000 attacks a day—by one plane or more than one plane—a regimen of terrific aerial warfare too steady and nerve-wracking for any nation to stand.

"THAT'S US, BOY!"

How many tanks, planes or guns in the hands of our boys do you suppose have parts made in our factories? The "who and what" is a military secret. But this you know: From the mines, the railroads, right into the shops, the work of thousands of Pennsylvania men and women is a part of our country's war effort. Your work may wind up somewhere, some place, in the machines and munitions of war—on duty for Victory.

We're in this with you. We're geared to war production. We're part of it—with you, and for you and your boys on the world-wide fronts. Our electric plant and lines are enlisted in the nation's cause. So is our organization, day and night.

We're proud that we have met and supplied every industrial war production demand — and that our electricity is turned into the materials that help strengthen the nation's stand. So may we, like you, look aloft, or afloat, or afield, and say, "That's Us!"

Mountain Laurel Starting To Bloom

State Flower Adds Beauty To Pennsylvania Forests At Present Time

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, June 4.—Foresters in the southern part of the state report that the state flower, mountain laurel, is beginning to blossom and adding color to the sylvan panorama of the state forests and recreational areas, Milford Bratton, director of the Bureau of Parks, said today. This beautiful evergreen is expected to be in full bloom throughout Pennsylvania by the end of the first week in June and in most sections the flowers will remain until the beginning of July.

Due to car, tire, and gasoline rationing, it is likely that many of the annual laurel festivals may be cancelled this year, but since these plants grow on state forest land close to numerous communities, they are within easy walking distance to most. Hikes are well worth the time and exercise to view this floral beauty.

Mountain laurel may grow to a height of forty feet in the southern states but seldom is more than ten feet tall in Pennsylvania. The pink and white clusters of flowers are beautiful in color, design and symmetry. The evergreen foliage contrasts well with the red and yellow branches.

Mountain laurel or one of its varieties are desirable ornamentals for beautifying home grounds and can be planted in either early spring or fall. The plants dislike clay and limestone soils but thrive in sandy or loamy soils which are acid in reaction.

Removal of laurel from state forests or from private lands, without permission of the owners, is prohibited by law.

Figures Show Value Of Castleton Hotel

Manager Du Wayne Shaw Shows Use Of Hotel In 1941 —Observing Hotel Week

Coincidentaly with the observation of National Hotel Week which is being celebrated over the United States this week, Du Wayne Shaw, manager of The Castleton Hotel today revealed some interesting figures upon the operation of the local hotel.

During the calendar year of 1941, 26,000 rooms were sold in the hotel, or approximately 30,000 guests. During the year 94,000 meals were served, 3,000 dozens of eggs were used, 3,200 gallons of milk were used, 7,500 pounds of sugar and 3500 pounds of coffee. During the same time 7,500 pounds of butter were used.

Twenty seven percent of the male personnel of the hotel have gone into the armed forces of the United States, eight young men having left for service.

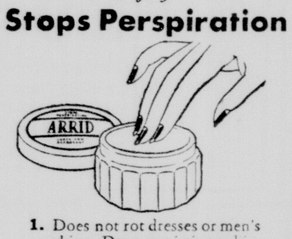

National Hotel week is being observed as a means of bringing about a closer understanding between the public and the hotels of the nation.

President Roosevelt in a statement on March 10 indicated value of hotels when hereminded the nation of the need of vacations and recreation in this country, consistent of course with the restrictions involved in the war effort.

The theme of National Hotel Week is "On The Home Front, Hotels Also Serve." The slogan sums up the importance of the hotel business during these trying days.

More than 6000 species of flowers, plants and trees have been recognized and recorded within New Mexico. Many of them are natives of the state.

Hundreds See Bomb Fighting Method Shown

Hundreds of persons including air wardens Wednesday night at George Washington junior high school heard instruction as to how they can extinguish and also witnessed actual demonstrations as to how to put out incendiary bombs.

The addresses and demonstrations were conducted by Chief of the fire department James E. Thomas and fireman and defense council members in cooperation with D. O. Davies, head of the city's defense system.

At eight o'clock in the school auditorium Larry Wilson demonstrated powder used in incendiary bombs and the way it would act.

L. B. Round, deputy defense head for the county declared to the outside meeting defense movement was vital and urged that more people take a deeper interest in the protective measures.

William Bowen, city fireman and Merle Brunton then touched off several incendiary bombs and demonstrated the wrong and right way to put out and remove the bombs.

Sand and water methods were used, each separately, because they are not used together. The demonstrators pointed a stream, the wrong method, at a bomb then sprayed the bomb slowly with water, which was explained was the right way to extinguish it.

Sand alone was put on a bomb. The sand, it was explained, was for the purpose of so smothering it that it could be removed from the place, where if allowed to go unchecked it would cause damage.

According to Director Davies and Fire Chief Thomas preparations are under way to give demonstrations in each ward. Later it is believed, sand will be placed in each ward and made available free to the public.

Water Firms Gird For Bomb Trouble, Conference Told

Western Section Of Water Works Operators Weighs War Problems

If bombs ever do drop on Pennsylvania cities, municipally-owned and private water companies stand ready to go to the aid of each other in repairing vital damage to mains, John H. Murdoch, Jr., of New York, president of the Pennsylvania Water Works Defense committee, told the Western Pennsylvania section of the Pennsylvania Water Works Operators' association at The Castleton today.

Gathered for an all-day discussion of mutual aid matters, almost 100 water works operators heard Murdoch as their main speaker this morning.

This afternoon the group is visiting local water plants. At their noon luncheon in The Castleton the visitors heard Bernhard Ragner, publicity director of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking on "Water Works Enlists for the War," Murdoch explained the 15-district state set-up for coping with bombing emergencies. He said J. Lepere Matthews, superintendent of New Castle Water Co., heads up District 10, which embraces Lawrence, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Indiana, Mercer and Venango counties. The plans of Murdoch's committee were started December 9, two days after Pearl Harbor.

The water utilities, in emergencies, will function in co-operation with local chairmen of Civilian Defense Councils.

Four chemists including B. French Johnson, chemist of New Castle Water Co., were also heard this morning on a symposium on "Taste and Odor Control."

The eastern section of the operator's organization met at Kennett Square, Pa., in May.

Heydrich Dead Berlin Reports

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 4.—(By Official German wireless)—Reinhard Heydrich, deputy chief of the Nazi Gestapo, shot three times last week by assassins who may have been parachuted into Czechoslovakia by British or Russian planes, died at Prague today, according to the official German news agency DNB.

Heydrich was serving as "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia at the time of his shooting. Two men opened fire on him as he was driving at a rapid rate through the streets of Prague a week ago yesterday. Both escaped.

Three bullets struck Heydrich, severing his spinal cord. If he had lived, he would have been a hopeless paralytic all his life.

The nation's popcorn supply comes largely from Iowa, according to the census. That state produces more than a half million bushels annually.

FRESH AERIAL ATTACKS MAY BE MADE ON COAST

Pacific were designed to serve a dual purpose: To immobilize defense forces there and to create diversion and confusion for a pre-arranged bombing attack on one or more west coast cities or the Panama Canal.

Seriousness of the threat was indicated by the United States Army announcement from the canal zone that all forces there were placed on the alert and all leaves cancelled approximately 24 hours before the first raid on Dutch Harbor.

In Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and other cities along the vast Pacific coast, Army, Navy and civilian defense personnel maintained the closest watch possible to prevent Japanese planes from reaching the mainland undetected.

Meager Reports

Meager reports on the two raids at Dutch Harbor indicated that damage was slight and that there were few casualties. It was presumed that American planes and surface craft are searching for the Japanese aircraft carrier or carriers from which the bombing and pursuit planes were launched.

Although Secretary of War Stimson warned a week ago that an aerial attack was "inevitable," news of the Dutch Harbor raid electrified the capital. It was the first time in history that North America had been attacked from the air.

Four bombers escorted by 15 fighter planes swooped over Dutch Harbor at 6 a. m. yesterday (12 noon E. W. T.) and roared away after a 15-minute attack.

"A few warehouses were set on fire but no serious damage was suffered," a navy communique said after the initial attack. "There were but few casualties."

Second Attack

Six hours later the second attack took place, but the navy stated that details were not available.

While the attacks undoubtedly were made in reprisal for the United States Army bombing raid on Japanese cities April 18, military experts asserted that they may have been executed to destroy or damage the base which might be used for the coming offensive against Japan.

It was pointed out that the Aleutian Islands lie on the direct route between the United States and Japan, with the western end approximately 700 miles from the nearest Japanese islands.

Dutch Harbor is approximately 2,500 miles from Tokyo and about 2,000 miles northwest of San Francisco.

The fact that fighter planes escorted the bombers in the initial raid left little doubt that the aircraft came from a carrier. Military experts long have warned that Japanese craft could easily slip through patrols in the fog-bound North Pacific.

Forts Strengthened

The Alaskan fortifications have been strengthened greatly during the past two years, and work on installations has been speeded up considerably since the Japanese attack upon Pearl Harbor.

Dutch Harbor is a naval, air and submarine base, and is considered a vital link in the Alaskan defense chain. Even more powerful, however, is the base at Kodiak, approximately 600 miles ease of Dutch Harbor.

In Washington, Anthony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate to Congress asserted that the raids were forerunners of a serious attempt to invade Alaska. He also said that it was highly probable that American forces would use the Aleutian bases when the United States moves in force against Japan.

Many military experts do not share his view, however. They contend that Japan would have little to gain by such an invasion, and that it would be difficult to keep such a force supplied.

Weather conditions preclude extensive military operations in the Alaskan area, and while gales and fog make it possible for "sneak" raiders to reach their objectives, they also hamper defending units from carrying out proper aerial patrols.

Whatever the purpose of the Japanese raids, the feeling prevailed that the Pacific conflict, now almost six months old, now has entered another phase.

Local Man Serves 30 Years In Navy

Shares Active Service At Vera Cruz, And In World War Events

Chief Pharmacist Mate Joe Capitola, stationed at New York, is recuperating at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Schetrom, 223 Scott street, to whom he is related, having recently arrived here.

Chief Capitola is attached to the U. S. S. Wheeling, Recruiting Facility V-7, Deck and Engineers Officers. He has been in the naval service almost 30 years, having left here to enlist in New York City March 17, 1913.

His sister, Mrs. Joe Factor, resides on Jefferson street; a brother, Nick Capitola, at the Savage hotel, and the late Pete Capitola, undertaker, was a brother. A brother Jack, resides in Cleveland.

Chief Capitola was aboard the U. S. S. DeMoines, a cruiser, at Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914, losing 26 in the action there from snipers. During 1915-16 and part of 1917 he cruised with the ship in the Mediterranean sea. They were in Alexandria, Egypt, when we declared war April 6, 1917, going to Gibraltar and getting coal and provisions April 16. They espied several submarines enroute, and fired at several. Going back to American waters via the Azore Islands, they sighted a large full rigged sailing vessel, becalmed, an ideal target for a submarine or warship. When challenged, it proved to be the "Eliza Atkins", 60 days out from Galveston, Texas, loaded with grain. She displayed large American flags, and the crew knew nothing of the war declaration. They insisted on proceeding on their voyage without convoy, intending of bring a valuable cargo of teak wood back from Japan. The ship went safely thru the Mediterranean, but was torpedoed when entering the Suez canal.

Later in the war Capitola was attached to the U. S. mine fleet, with bases at Inverness and Invergordon, Scotland. They laid a barrage of mines from the coast of Norway to the coast of Scotland, averaging width of 25 miles, also mined the Adriatic sea and part of the English channel, entirely bottling up the German fleet and shipping.

When the Japs struck treacherously at us in December, Capitola was under hospitalization in New York and has been off and on since that time doing recruiting in between times. He is anxious to get fit again, that he may get back into active duty.

ALBERT MORSE HOLDS FINE SCHOOL RECORD; TO ENTER PENN STATE

Albert Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Morse of 1010 North Jefferson street, has an exceedingly fine record of attendance during his entire school life.

Morse has kept a perfect attendance goal, throughout his entire school career, with the exception of one week, when he was in first grade. He hasn't missed a day since that time, and that was lost the last month of his completing grade one activities. He will be graduated from senior high school on Friday night, June 5, in the technical course. On Monday, he will enter Penn State, beginning the required four year course.

Morse, the eldest of two boys in his family, also maintains a fine attendance record in Sunday school, holding a five-year and a three-year "perfect attendance" card, at the two churches he attended, one being the Madison avenue Christian church when they lived in Mahoningtown, and the other being on Euclid avenue.

Making $35,000 Refund In City

Checks for the $35,000 public contributions made to purchase scrap rights on the United Engineering and Foundry Company plant site will be in the mail tonight according to Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association. By Friday afternoon every contributor should have his contribution back 100 per cent.

The $35,000 was asked for when it became necessary to clear certain technicalities in the title rights to the property. The GNCA put on a campaign to raise the $35,000 and in less than three days the money was in hand.

At the time of the campaign it was stated that part of the money would probably be returned to the donors, when the scrap was sold. The scrap was sold and sufficient money received to give back to the donors, every dime they had put in.

News Briefs From City Hall

There are several hundred Pennsylvanians at Fort Sill, Okla., and one of the chaplains would like to arrange a Pennsylvania night at a U. S. O. building there. This was the information of Lieutenant-Colonel J. C. Frank, former councilman of Harrisburg sent via the Third Class Cities league to council today. The league asked if the city would contribute $5.00, toward helping the boys enjoy thmselves. "I'll give the $5.00 to help the boys enjoy themselves and also send them a message from New Castle" Mayor Charles B. Mayne announced.

Conventions of the Third Class Cities league are a lot of "hooie" in the opinion of Mayor Charles B. Mayne. It is there that instead of business which is of vital concern to such places being discussed, hobbies of speakers are aired. Several councilmen agreed with him today. Therefore in council session the city fathers voted that they favored the league calling off its 1942 convention. This was the answer given to the league officers who inquired of New Castle council if a convention was favored in view of the gas and rubber situation.

Council voted in meeting today in city hall to permit a carnival company to show at Dean Park for the benefit of the police pension fund. However, the carnival company must deposit a sufficient sum of money to pay for cleaning and repairing the grounds after it moves on. Councilmen D. O. Davies and Gibson insisted upon this because the last carnival allegedly left rubbish and Gibson says the park is used for baseball purposes.

Jap Troops Are Near Chuhsien

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, June 4.—Japanese troops storming down from the north have advanced to within three miles of Chuhsien, vital Chekiang province railway center, a Chinese spokesman announced today.

Chinese troops have been maintaining their stubborn resistance in a vicient battle that has raged for 24 hours, the spokesman said, but the Japanese have pressed forward under cover of a bombing barrage aimed at the city's defense works.

A unit of 1,000 Japanese troops in civilian clothes who tried to filter into the city through its south gate was declared to have been wiped out by the Chinese.

While acknowledging that Chuhsien (Chuchow) is the site of an important airfield from which bombers might take off to attack the Nipponese mainland. The spokesman added the prophetic warning that "such fields exist in other parts of China also."

Japanese forces in Cheking were using considerable plainclothes tropos. They usually go into action at night, concealing their weapons under Chinese coolie garments and attempting to work their way to points of vantage from which to launch a surprise attack.

Chinese intelligence reports indicate that the Japanese have been preparing 5,000 coolie outfits at Tientsin for plainclothes troops.

Not Last Raid Says Stimson

(International News Service)

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Referring to the Japanese aerial attacks upon Dutch Harbor, Secretary of War Stimson today declared "I want to caution you that this is not the only and last raid."

At his weekly press conference, the secretary recalled that just a week ago he predicted that a Japanese raid against the United States was "inevitable."

Asked by reporteds if he anticipated raids upon the American mainland itself, Stimson stated: "I make no restrictions on the possibilities of these raids."

Women Hurry To Hear State Nutritionist

Victory Canning Demonstration Is Well-Attended By Patriotic Women

That New Castle women are vitally interested in patriotic saving of sugar and protecting the nation's health was demonstrated when 500 women stormed the special sugarless canning and preserving demonstration yesterday afternoon at the Epworth Methodist church.

Miss Eleanor Winters, nutrition expert from the Pennsylvania State College, was brought here by the Victory Garden Association of New Castle and she gave the benefit of her scientific knowledge to an unexpectedly large group of interested and patroitic women.

Miss Winters demonstrated new scientific methods of canning vegetables that keeps the vitimans in the foods and salting methods of vegetables. She discussed the sugar problem in preserving of fruits, and suggested the substitution of honey or corn syrup. She also described a new five minute process of preserving that needed only half the quantities of sugar used in the old method.

For women who could not be present yesterday, it was announced that booklets describing the new processes could be obtained from Miss Anne Marie Quinn of the Lawrence County Agricultural Association.

Among the audience were about 200 women from the Red Cross under the leadership of Mrs. Wm. Cosel, Red Cross nutrition head.

New Castle Girl Caught In Air Raid Drill Move

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 4.—Miss Lily Belle Hill of 204 North Mulberry street, New Castle, had the unique experience of being caught downtown in Washington's first full scale daylight air raid drill this week.

The New Castle girl was on a shopping excursion when the sirens screamed their warning to take cover. Police and air raid wardens immediately took charge, stopped all traffic and hustled pedestrians into nearby buildings. Miss Hill was directed to take shelter in a corner drug store and remained there until the all clear signalled 15 minutes later.

Traffic Reduced; Also Accidents

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 4—Only two highway fatalities were recorded in Pennsylvania during the Memorial Day week-end as compared with 13 deaths during the same period last year, Col. Lynn G. Adams, commissioner of motor police, announced today.

While an estimated 40 per cent reduction in traffic undoubtedly aided in restricting the total number of accidents, Adams said, strict enforcement of the motor vehicle laws helped cause an 80 per cent reduction in fatalities.

"While Memorial Day casualties this year numbered but two," he declared, "that was still two too many. There should have been none."

He pointed out that "carelessness" was the cause of the accidents and that if motorists will stay within the patriotic 40 mile per hour speed limit "they will not only conserve gas, tires and the vehicle but will also save lives."

New Castle Sales Still Setting Pace

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Sales by independent retail stores continue to increase more rapidly in New Castle than any other large city of Pennsylvania, latest census bureau figures disclose.

Such sales in New Castle increased eight per cent in April as compared with the corresponding month last year. In Pennsylvania as a whole sales declined one per cent. City most nearly approaching the New Castle record was Wilkes-Barre with a four per cent expansion.

New Castle sales during the first four months of this year were up 23 per cent over the corresponding 1941 period. This compared with a gain of only 13 per cent in the state at large. Erie, with a 20 per cent increase, ranked next below New Castle in the fourth-month climb.

AIR RAID WARDEN SPEAKS

Guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of New Wilmington's Kiwanians was Wallace McKean, chief air raid warden for the northern part of Lawrence county.

Mr. McKean gave a timely talk on home defense, emphasizing the fact that civilian morale and attitude was even more important than the military aspect of home defense. He spoke of the possibility of the town's being bombed, saying that "we are right in the middle of a group of military objectives".

Plans for the club's second anniversary are being completed by a committee composed of Chairman Roy Cummings, Chuck Phillips and Art Minteer. The Kiwanians and their wives will hold a dinner and theatre party in Youngstown on Wednesday, June 10.

President Russell C. Sewall presented the club's second defense bond to Russell Wilson, treasurer.

W. A. Reed and President Sewall were named as delegates to the International Kiwanis convention, set for Cleveland from the 14th to the 18th of June.

SUMMER SESSION

According to Dr A. T. Cordray, who is directing the first summer school at Westminster college for many years, about 125 students are expected to attend the summer session.

"Slightly over 100 of our regular students have already enrolled for the summer school," said Dr. Cordray, "and a number of new students is expected. This number will not be known definitely until the day of registration, which is next Monday. Classes will begin on Tuesday."

GIVEN AWARD

Catherine Young was presented with the annual citizenship award of the local D. A. R. chapter at New Wilmington high school's annual class night, held recently at the Community House.

The award, which was made by Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, D. A. R. regent, is given to the high school girl who has shown the best qualities which make for good citizenship. Similar awards were given to eighth-graders Nancy Buckley and John McClure.

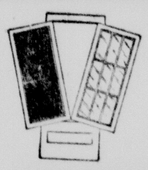

The usual program of prophecies, wills, gifts, etc., comprised class night. Participating in the program were Jean Wilson, Iva Mae Struble, Helen Williamson, Olga Malaniak, Eleanor Donner and Marian Cornelius. The high school octet sang "Johnnie Schmoker" and "Lord of the Living Harvest". On behalf of the senior class, Patricia Fordney, class president, presented a defense bond to the school, with Principal Walt Whitman the recipient.

Heads Fair Rent Committee Here

J. J. McCoy, Local Chairman, Makes Preliminary Announcement Of Situation

ASKS CITIZENS TO PLAY FAIR

In an announcement to the public today, J. J. McCoy, chairman of the New Castle Fair Rent Committee, which has been established to see that rents locally are not boosted exhorbitantly, announces the establishment of a local committee, which will be made on Saturday.

Mr. McCoy's statement to the public, follows:

"In recent months exhorbitant rent increases have accompanied housing shortages in certain defense areas. An undue burden has thereby been placed upon defense workers, upon families of enlisted men, and civilian residents of these communities.

"New Castle is now considered a defense area. Therefore, the state council of defense urges consideration of the establishment of a fair rent committee. This committee is now being organized here, and I assure the general public that no person will serve on the committee that is not fair to all. We do not expect to encounter any serious trouble, but we will insist that tenants as well as owners be fair and not expect too much from your committee. Rent bidding by landlords will not be allowed. I will announce this committee in Saturday's New Castle News.

J. J. McCoy, Chairman.

Up in the far corner of southern Australia there is one of the world's strangest schools. Its pupils are members of the Pitjantarja tribe of aborigines. They wear no clothes, and go to school or stay away as they please. The school is about one year old and has 100 students, with an average attendance of 40.

Physicians And Dentists Needed For the Rapidly Growing Army Of The United States

With the daily increasing army, the need for physicians and dentists is increasing, according to Major Floyd W. Oliphant, Q. M. C., who was in New Castle Wednesday. "Before the end of the year many thousands more will be needed," said Major Oliphant, and it is the hope of the government that physicians and dentists will volunteer in larger numbers than they have in the past.

The following notice has been made public by the army concerning the need for physicians and dentists:

"In connection with the procurement and assignment service for physicians and dentists, the United States army has established at 510-H New Federal building, Pittsburgh, Pa., a medical officer recruiting board consisting of two officers, Major Floyd W. Oliphant, Q. M. C., and Major Samuel L. Woodhouse, Jr., M. C. The board will accept applications and appoint qualified applicants under the age of 45, in the grade of first lieutenant or captain, Medical Corps, Army of the United States. Those in the age group 45 to 54, inclusive, and for appointments in field grade, will be forwarded to the office of the surgeon generaly, Washington, D. C., with recommendation of the board.

Appointments in the dental corps in the Army of the United States will be limited to the grade of first lieutenant and under the age of 37.

The board invites doctors of medicine and doctors of dental surgery to apply for appointment. Further information may be obtained by writing to the Medical Officer Recruiting Board, 510-H New Federal Building, Pittsburgh, Pa."

Red Air Force On Offensive Against Nazi Forces

Little Action By Forces On Land

Claim 1,366 German Planes Destroyed During May On Russian Front

FIGHTING OCCURS IN DONETZ BASIN

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 4—The Red Army air force has taken the brunt of the offensive against the stalled German armies on the Russian front, reports from the battle line said today. Land forces engaged in purely local actions and there were no important changes in front line positions, according to a communique.

The Moscow radio said 2,000 Nazis had been slain in fighting on an unidentified sector of the Donetz Basin. This was identified as a local action. The Germans were declared to have lost 1,000 men in 16 attacks on a Russian-held village. All assaults were said to have been repulsed.

Claims Supported

Recent claims that the Red air force had taken command over the luftwaffe were supported by an official summary which said 1,366 German planes had been destroyed during May. Soviet losses were only 479 aircraft, the statement said.

During the month the Red army air force carried out five large raids on German airports on the southwestern front, destroying 91 enemy planes. Another raid on an enemy airport on the central front destroyed 15 Messerschmitt fighters on the ground, and 22 were destroyed in two raids on the northwestern front, the official report stated.

To Rouse Flow Of LIVER BILE

Normally about a quart of digestion-aiding bile should be discharged into the intestines every day. A scanty flow—a slowing-up may cause sick headaches, bowel sluggishness and so-called bilious indigestion with its half-sick, sour feeling.

If you suffer from such symptoms because you need more bile released from the gall-bladder, try world famous Kruschen Salts. Get a bottle tonight—start right in tomorrow morning and take as much as will lie on a dime in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast, or in your morning cup of tea or coffee, and keep it up for 30 days, don't miss a morning and note the results for yourself. You can get Kruschen, a famous English formula made in the U.S.A., at Eckerd's of New Castle or any drug store. You must be satisfied or money back.

CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS Note: For an occasional cathartic or purgative to relieve common constipation, we believe there is nothing better than quick-acting Kruschen in larger doses—try it according to directions on the bottle.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Navy Cruisers are built in two classes, light and heavy, the latter displacing about 10,000 tons. Our navy has about an equal number of light and heavy Cruisers, the 10,000 ton Cruiser costing approximately $20,000,000. Many Cruisers are under construction and many more are needed.

To pay for these speedy and powerful ships with their heavy guns and armament we must buy War Bonds. Citizens of a large town or a given community, working in unity, could buy one of these ships for the Navy if they put at least ten percent of their income in War Bonds every pay day.

District 50 U. M. W. Ready To Bolt

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—District 50 of the United Mine Workers today prepared to bolt the U.M.W. and join the C.I.O. as a heated fight raged between U.M.W. Chief John Lewis and C.I.O. President Philip Murray.

A committee for autonomy, composed of about 150 locals of District 50, is ready to apply for a charter with the C.I.O. in protest against Lewis' methods. District 50, which covers the country, includes gas, coke and cosmetic workers and dairy farmers.

Martin Wagner, a member of the U.M.W. international board for District 50, resigned last night. In a letter to Lewis, Wagner said he and his constituents could no longer support the policies of the U.M.W. leadership "in attacking the C.I.O., its President Philip Murray and granting only lip service to the President of the United States."

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 4 — Impressed by Pennsylvania's turnpike New York state officials are planning to construct a superhighway of their own at an estimated cost of $150,000,000, twice that of the Pittsburgh to Harrisburg express road. . . The New York road, however, will be much longer when built than its Pennsylvania counterpart. . . It will extend from New York to Albany, across the state to Buffalo and southwest to the Pennsylvania border. . . The superhighway would not be built until after the war under present plans.

No money has yet been appropriated for the highway's construction, but Gov. Herbert H. Lehman signed a bill passed recently by the N. Y. legislature placing the proposed highway on the state's road-building map. . . In signing the bill, Governor Lehman cited a memorandum from Arthur W. Brandt, state superintendent of public works, who asserted that the act "contemplates a modern superhighway comparable to the one already built partly across the state of Pennsylvania." . . Brandt urged the governor's approval "so that we can make the necessary studies during the war period and determine with much greater accuracy the actual cost. . .

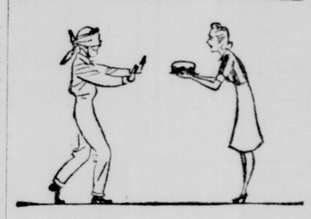

Senator James J. Davis, defeated Republican candidate for governor, apparently feels that if more of the electorate had voted he would have stood a better chance of defeating Major General Edward Martin for the G.O.P. nomination. . . Only 36 per cent of the registered voters in the Republican party voted in the primary election. . . The apathetic electorate "certainly gave support to statements of Hitler and Mussolini that Americans don't vote." Davis commented in his first public appearance after his defeat.

Tom R. Brislin, former I.N.S. correspondent at the state capital, discloses that the 28th division today consists of numerous out-of-staters. . . Brislin is now stationed with the 109th infantry regiment at Camp Livingston, La. . . Every regiment, he said, has been required to give up key men to new divisions or newer, more important jobs. . . As a result there has been an almost steady influx of raw, untrained recruits who come from New York, Kentucky, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and other states. . . The former Pennsylvania unit retains its old tradition, however, of being the "Iron Division," he reports. . . Training now goes on six days a week.

First degree planned by the Knights of Columbus for Saturday, June 6, has been postponed due to the parade scheduled during Navy Week. The degree will be exemplified in the near future.

"Peace Memorial" Donated By Japs Being Demolished

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 4.—Unless the park department takes action, the Japanese pavilion which Tojo's men constructed as a peace memorial at the New York's World Fair will be demolished "piece by piece" by irate Flushing residents.

Members of the Flushing Meadow Parks today claimed the two and one-half story wood and stucco structure was a 'monument to a treacherous enemy" and said its demolition would erase "a disgrace to our civic and national honor."

The peace memorial was donated to the United States by the Japanese government after the close of the fair.

New Castle Kiwanians extended a welcome to 10 new members at their weekly luncheon in The Casdleton yesterday. The noon period was given over to a discussion of club business.

Ralph H. Ramsey reported on the Kiwanis scout troop and A. H. Gonick on future inter-club affairs. Edward I. Meyers reported for the underprivileged child committee.

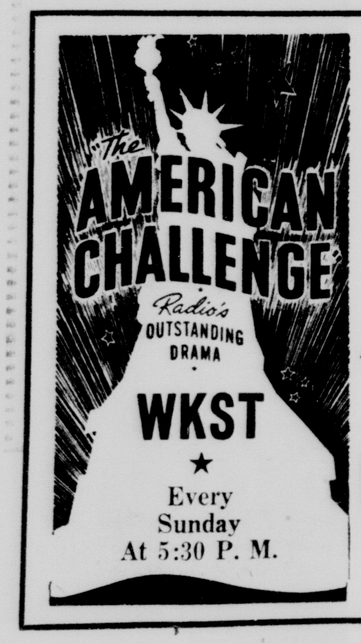

The birthdays of A. R. Kingsbury, J. W. Michael and John B. Shaw were briefly celebrated.

Siege Of Illness At Sailors' Camp

About 30 men from the Navy Seabees company at the NYA center at Cunningham park have been under observation for the last few days because of sore throats and colds, according to Ensign Norman L. Brown, officer in charge.

Two of the sailors had severe cases of grip and had to go to the hospital but they are recovering now.

Ensign Brown said that the sickness was nothing serious, but rather an expected aftermath of numerous "shots" given during the first weeks of naval training.

Governor Intimates Politics In Project

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 4—Gov. Arthur H. James today intimated that U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffy was instrumental in having the present state rationing administration, which is supervised by voluntary help, supplanted by a federally-paid organization.

Terming the new organization created by the office of price administration an "unfortunate new enterprise of patriotism for profit" formed to take care of "lame duck democrats," the governor asserted:

"I do not make this statement without abundant support. For example, by one of those remarkable actions which let political cats out of the bag, one of the high state officials associated with rationing, within the past week received a message which certainly was never intended to come to republican ears. The message came direct from a congressman's office in Washington. It was short, sweet and mist illuminating. Here it is: 'Sen. Guffey is getting impatient because of the delay in giving him the five appointments promised him in Lackawanna County.'

"The official who received this message thought a moment and then tactfully suggested that perhaps the message had been intended for the New York office in charge of the district in which Pennsylvania is located, rather than the Pennsylvania headquarters.

"From the other end of the line came a startled 'oh!' and a quick click, as the receiver went up."

"Senator Guffey's interest in the salaried jobs embraced by these purportedly patriotic enterprises is not confined to rationing," continued Governor James. "For example, it is a matter easy to establish that he personally went to Donald Nelson to try to head off a salaried appointment to the Pittsburgh area, in the salvage program.

"His complaints were:

"(1) That he was entitled to be consulted before such appointment was made;

"(2) That the appointment came from outside his sphere of influence; and

"(3) That he didn't like the appointee anyway."

How much must we lose before Washington quits depending on patriotism and starts giving orders instead of suggestions?

Navy Week All-Star Ball Game Tonight On Marshall Field

Attraction Starts At Six O'Clock; Record Smashing Crowd Expected

FRISCH, PLAYERS WILL BE PRESENT

Before a gallery that is expected to smash the attendance record at Marshall field, Scott street, the Navy Week all-star baseball game will be played tonight starting at 6 o'clock.

Close to three dozen sandlotters, representing the cream of the crop here, will display their wares for the true blue of the navy. The starting lineups will be announced shortly before the fracas gets under way. The squads have been selected from among members of the City Baseball league and from Ellwood City.

Present at the star-studded attraction will be several officers of the United States navy. Manager Frank Frisch, Elbie Fletcher, Honus Wagner, Vincent DiMaggio, Al Lopez and several other members of the Pittsburgh Pirates are scheduled to participate in the affair. Frisch and his proteges are carded to serve as umpires and to help coach the all stars.

Top Peformers Here

For the first time in many years, local fandom will be afforded an opportunity of witnessing the greatest array of local players in action on the same field. City Baseball league managers, who selected the two squads—the National and American—spent considerable time in checking the various rosters so as to pick the most talented sandlotters.

Every member of the two squads will see action during the encounter which figures to overflow with action.

The City league is cooperating in conjunction with Chief Yeoman Frank Boyd and Chief Shipfitter David C. Ritchie, who are in charge of the Navy Week program.

The navy hopes to stimulate interest in that branch of service through a series of high classed programs being presented throughout the week.

Chief Yeoman Boyd today announced that a navy official will deliver a talk before the game.

Admission is free.

The committee in charge of the game includes:

The Rev. Fr. Peter Schirra, Frank "Jewie" Coen and Steve Gonda.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Jake Mintz, matchmaker for the McGinley & Rooney Pugilistic endeavors, Pittsburgh, is a man who likes to brown his steaks and scramble his English. And right now he is masticating his words. He is all hot and bothered because rival promoters in cities other than Pittsburgh are trying to snatch his Harry Bobo for combat against Melio Bettina or Bob Pastor. However, it might be said that when the jawing-match is o'er Jake will come forth with an announcement that Melio and Harry will box in Pittsburgh.

One fight exceptionally exciting turned out to be Tuesday night in The Arena. When Harley Shoaf, Jr., wearing "cheaters" and Dick Del Prince asked for a fight . Harley, Jr., was waived aside because it was feared his vision would affect his punch tossing. However, they were so earnest about boxing they were put into the ring and what a fight it turned out to be. Neither knew a thing about science but they did slub and exhibited the sort of fighting fans like. It certainly was a fight for punch-hungry.

Jack Dougall, former local announcer, is with the Eagles in Sharon and here recently said he could be called upon for anything he could do toward furthering the war effort. . . . Chief of police Willis McMullen sent Officers Boyle and Wallace to the Arena to handle the Navy boxing night crowd. They performed excellently. Thanks . . . Russell McBride with the Marines at Parris Island writes saying things are fine. He reports all the local boys there are getting along splendidly.

The Navy ball game and the U. S. O. setto should attract good crowds. . . . . Al Orlando, local infielder, probably will hop back into a Moose uniform until some scout grabs him off for another trip into the Minors. He's 18 and graduating this year. . . . Chief Petty Officer Frank Boyd is a son of Frank Boyd who once caught for the Pirates . . . Two youngsters chased a couple of big carp in Wolf creek several days ago, and working 'em into shallow water caught them. Their weight totalled 38 pounds... Some of the boys have been doing nicely on Allegheny river trout.

Johnny Dean, give a middleweight is now a heavyweight. He didn't do so bad considering the bay window he carried into the ring for the exhibition with fleet Russ Baxter several nights ago. Some of those hocks, which had they landed would have spelled curtains for Baxter who wasn't sparing many punches. . . . Johnny likes to bore in. . . . Frankie Moran's chest hurt him, hence he was unable to donate his services. Had he been able he would not have needed anyone to ask him. Mike Donovan is hustling like a trojan for the U. S. O. game.

Mrs. T. E. Nolans of Chartiers Heights and New Castle Field club plans to play in the Women's Western Open Golf tournament at Chicago late this month which will prevent her entry in the Cambridge Springs meet.

With Ted Yarosz and Ossie Harris, two former Arena amateurs already engaged for Pittsburgh's Monday fistic show Jake Mintz, matchmaker has added another former amateur, Pete Spotti. He will box Jackie Harris. Clarence Jones and Curtis Sheppeard will meet in the wind-up.

Softball League Meeting Friday

President Rocco Viggiano today announced that the City Softball League will hold an important meeting in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening starting at 8 o'clock.

Managers will be requested to forward their contracts during the session.

SPORTS QUIZ

NEW YORK—Who's the only living man besides the Babe himself who saw Ruth hit his first and his last major league home run?

A—A cinch! The name is George E. (Duffy) Lewis. He was playing left field for the Boston Red Sox May 6, 1915, when southpaw Ruth, the visiting pitcher, dished No. 1 into the Polo Grounds rightfield stands off Jack Warhop, of the Yankees. The same Duffy, now road secretary of the Boston Braves, was road secretarying in Pittsburgh 20 years after, May 25, 1935, when the Bam crashed his 721st, 722nd and 723rd homers, (including world series hits), off Red Lucas and Guy Bush, of the Pirates.

THE NAME IS CORRECT

NOTRE DAME, Ind-Frank D. Tatum, Jr., of Stanford's powerful golf team bears the nickname "Sandy." He got it in a telegram when he was two weeks old—the sender was a Scotch golfer who predicted that Frank would be a 3-handicap player some day. He started playing at five and broke 90 when only 11. Stanford will defend its N.C.A.A. title at South Bend June 22 to 27 in the 45th annual national intercollegiate tournament.

Bessemer Claims Forfeit Triumph Over Slovak Nine

Manager Frank Clark Says Slovaks Fail To Show Up Wednesday Night

Most of New Castle sports program Wednesday night was dampened.

In the City league the Elder-Croton battle, billed for Cascade field, was scratched.

Bessemer, through its manager, Frank Clark, today claims a forfeit victory at the expense of the Slovaks. The "Cementers," the pilot reports, were on hand for the game, so were Umpires General and Shook. When the Slovaks failed to show up, the umpires awarded Bessemer the setto, Clark said. The Slovaks were not available for comment.

Other baseball and softball clashes were postponed.

Twilight Baseball Slowly Dying Out

Freight Payer Would Rather Miss Baseball Than His Daily Chow

By SID MERCER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 4.—One of baseball's war babies—the misnamed "twilight" game is dying of malnutrition and soon will fade from the major league scene.

Those who sponsored the experiments for the purpose of determining whether late afternoon starts are preferable to those that send patrons home to early dinners now admit the big city baseball fan cannot be sold on the idea.

He would rather miss his baseball than dinner at his accustomed hour.

Attendance flops at several Army and Navy relief games started at a late hour have convinced Ford Frick, president of the National League, that twilight ball, even with extra exploitation, will not draw as well as games that start at 3 or 3:15.

Frick left for St. Louis where the Cardinals and Boston Braves are staging their Army-Navy game this week. He will visit Chicago and Pittsburgh also, and possibly change some dates to provide better attractions for the service fund games. The American League already has revised its schedule to include some Sunday double-headers.

Clark Griffith blames the late starting time for the flop of the Washington game in which the Yankees and Nats played to a slim crowd. Somebody got the idea that government employes working until 4 o'clock on a Saturday, would go for a 5 o'clock game. They didn't.

The Phillies and Pirates coaxed out only 3,000 fans in their Army-Navy benefit game in Philadelphia. The late start was tried there, too.

Experiment Underway

Alva Bradley is experimenting with a 4 o'clock starting time in Cleveland. When the Yankees were there recently no rush of men in overalls from neighboring manufacturing plants to the ball park was noticed though the day shifts in Cleveland quit work at 3 o'clock.

Larry MacPhail still isn't sure twilight games will go in Brooklyn. The Dodgers have played two and in both the advance sale produced the bulk of the crowds. One was the Giant-Dodger game for the Army and Navy and the other was the Phillies, a switch from a night game for which there had been a big advance sale. The real test will come in Brooklyn when the attraction is ordinary and the advance sale is slow.

Real twilight games, starting at 6:30 during the months when daylight lasts until 9 o'clock or later, should provide a far better substitute for night ball than games that compete with the attractions of the dinner table.

Cracked Right Rib Still Bothers Foxx

Famous Clubber, Bought By Chicago Cubs, Will Undergo Physical Exam

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 4.—Jimmy Foxx's debut in the National league with the Chicago Cubs depended today on the results of a physical examination for the former Red Sox first baseman whom the Bruins purchased last Monday.

The husky veteran reported to Manager Jimmy Wilson yesterday, still suffering from a right rib cracked in batting practice 10 days ago.

Foxx said he might be able to take over first base in a few days but both he and Wilson agreed to abide by the findings of the club's physician, Dr. John F. Davis.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 4.—I wish I could shut up and mind my own business, but that's the way it is with some of us. We keep going around butting in where we are not wanted and meddling in things where we can't be of any help. Like the Joe Louis situation.

What I ought to do is let Promoter Mike Jacobs, the Army officials and Louis work the thing out as they see fit, for, after all, it can't concern me whether they let him fight this summer of not. But every few days something comes up to needle me into offering some more unwanted suggestions on the much-discussed engagement between the heavyweight champion and Bob Pastor.

Louis still hasn't been given permission to get out of the Army and take on anybody, and possibly won't get it, but I would like to state here, that the newspapers aren't helping his case any, when they carry great, lengthy stories on his need of a fight to pay his $117,000 income taxes for last year. The papers are full of such stuff around here.

The answer to that one must be that some of the rest of us have taxes to meet. That goes for some of the gents in uniforms too, no doubt, but no one is trying to help them figure their way out of it. They get up the scratch the best way they can and if they can't then that's just too bad.

A Great Human

Louis is one of the great human beings of these times. When he was asked to defend his heavyweight championship free of charge to benefit service relief funds his answer in each case was a terse, "I'm willing to do what ever you want me to."

There is nothing wrong with him and perhaps he deserves, as so many insist, a chance to make some money for himself. But his confidential advisers are not helping his case any by asking that he be permitted to fight so he can pay his taxes.

In fact, several things are working against him, not overlooking what has appeared to be the slightly excessive expense accounts turned in by his managers for his two charity shows. Inasmuch as Louis gave away $83,246 in purses in his two fights and the gross revenue for the service funds was $154,072 his managers probably weren't out of line in their expense accounts looking at it from one angle.

In the first place Louis didn't have to give up all that money, if he didn't want to, but somehow it all seems a little shoddy for this pressure to be exerted in his behalf for income taxes. It also seems a little petty for him to be doing so much and yet have expense accounts turned in that cause talk.

As a matter of fact, if we want to see Louis fight again before this war is over, to help himself and charity at the same time, we had better do a little less campaigning his behalf. The Army is very touchy and might get downright cantankerous to such a point that Louis simply won't be permitted to fight at all, as I reported some time ago would be the case.

One thing is certain, his case is hanging fire for a considerable time beyond the expected deadline. Meanwhile, some of the public prints are getting right out there and pleading for him.

A little more of this and the Army will not even consider his case.

DIMAGGIO RAPS HIS 10TH HOMER

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 4—Joe DiMaggio was far from his usual heavy hitting average today but the Yankee clipper could look back on yesterdays' play with a feeling of pride. His tenth home run of the season assured the New Yorkers a 4 to 1 victory over the Chicago White Sox and also gave big Ernie Bonham his eighth victory of the season. Joe Kuhel ruined Bonham's chance for his fifth shutout by clouting a home run in the sixth inning as the Yankees moved eight and a half games ahead of the American league pennant parade.

Buddy Hassett drove in the first of the Yankee runs with the first of his three singles of the afternoon. The singing first baseman, who does plumbing work in the winter and fills in on barbershop quartets during the off-season, scored the winning margin run ahead of DiMaggio's circuit clout. The victory was the Yankee's seventh consecutive over the Sox, who have failed to win a single game from the stadium busters this season.

St. Louis whipped Washington, 9 to 5, scoring eight runs on a like number of hits in the second inning. The Browns drove Sid Hudson to the showers during the barrage. They continued the onslaught against Jack Wilson, Hudson's successor during the same frame. Doubles by Harlond Clift and George McQuinn gave the Browns their final run and evened the series for the St. Louis club.

Wallaesa Beaned

Hal White was moving along smoothly for the Detroit Tigers until he beaned Jack Wallaesa of the Philadelphia Athletics in the fifth inning. The unfortunate happening so unnerved the rookie Tiger hurler he allowed three runs to cross in the same inning with the A's winning, 5 to 1. Wallaesa apparently was not hurt, however, and after an examination by the club physician was sent home. Pinky Higgins scored the lone Detroit tally with a home run off Jack Knott, who allowed six hits during the afternoon.

The Cleveland-Boston game was postponed because of weather.

In the National league, Rip Russell smacked a home run with the bases jammed in the first inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 6 to 2 victory over the New York Giants. As a result Claude Passeau scored his eighth victory of the season with young Tom Sunkel being the victim of the Cubs' hickory work.

The Boston Braves nosed out the Cardinals, 4 to 3, before a crowd of 11,447 on hand in St. Louis for army-navy relief. Johnny Sain, staving off three rallies in the final four innings, saved the victory for Lou Tost who was taken out in the sixth. It was Tost's sixth triumph. The Braves scored the winning run on Frank Demaree's single in the fifth. He took second on a wild pitch and scored on Ernie Lombardi's single.

Philadelphia beat the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, in ten innings, and the Brooklyn Dodgers' scheduled game with the Pittsburgh Pirates was called because of weather.

USO Benefit Friday Night

Elders-Slovaks Clash On Marshall Field, Scott Street; Games Starts At 6

Hopeful of aggregating a substantial sum, the City Baseball league plays a game for the United Service Organizations on Friday evening at 6 o'clock on Marshall field, Scott street.

While the entire circuit is pitching toward making the affair a market success, the Elder A. C. and Slovaks, two of the most popular teams in the county, will swap baseball knowledge in a game which should be crammed with action and thrills.

Mike Donovan, president of the league and general chairman of the benefit, today announced that one of the biggest crowds to ever gather round the Scott street field seems certain. "The ticket sale is extremely brisk. We hope to raise at least $250 for the USO. There is a possibility that we may go over the goal, provided the weatherman cooperates," the prexy said.

The game is strictly for the USO with no one getting a cent. The umpires, members of the Lawrence County Umpires' association, are donating their services.

Besides helping a cause that rates a spot on the top of the "must" list, spectators will view two of the strongest and smoothest clicking sandlot teams in the county. The rival squads are studded with talented players who produce the kind of action that hits the spot.

The game will start promptly at 6 o'clock.

Coulter To Catch

Added interest has been injected into the fray with the announcement that Sergt. Paul Coulter, ex-Elder A. C. star, will catch for his mates. Coulter is home on furlough. News of the benefit game caused Coulter to step forward to do his bit.

Present at the field will be the New Castle Fire Department rescue squad in full regalia. General Chairman Mike Donovan announced today.

Tickets for the game are being sold by various members of the league. The price is 25 cents.

Special Horse Races Planned

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 4.—Now that Trainer Ben Jones has expressed a desire to pit Whirlaway against Market Wise in a match race to prove, once and for all, just which is the better colt, there have been all sorts of rumors about practically every horse but Barney Goggle's Spark Plug being pitted against each other in match events.

We have read in the last twenty four hours that Alsab would accept a match race with either Whirly or Market Wise; that a special race would be arranged between the three of them and that Market Wise would accept another race against Whirly only if Alsab competed, and the Canadian flash, Ten To Ace, was brought down to make it a four horse affair.

The Whirlaway-Market Wise return has been suggested for Belmont in the fall and might be arranged. Owner Warren Wright has not been consulted on it by Trainer Ben Jones but if Ben wants it he can easily obtain permission for Mr. Wright gives his complete charge of the Calumet Comet's affairs.

We do not like to throw cold water on any of these "dream races" that have been running through the minds of some of the citizens, particularly in respect to Alsab, but the simple truth is there is very little chance of him accepting any match races now or in the fall.

Not so long ago Al Sabath, who owns the "Sab" told us he had a big program outlined for the colt, starting with the Withers mile at Belmont and bringing him through next Saturday's Belmont stakes; the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct; the Arlington classic and the American derby at Washington Park

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

From three different sections of the town comes the same request . . . a request that something be said about those families who insist on turning the radio up to its highest point when all the doors and windows are open in their home. The radio blares away and the entire neighborhood is bothered . . It is odd that such a request would come from three sections at one time . . . But upon investigating these reports we can say without reservation that the annoyance is there and that something should be done about it . . . just what we can't say. Perhaps those guilty will take it upon themselves to think of others instead of themselves when they turn their radio up to top volume. Let's hope so.

According to the ladies that were present at the Canning Demonstration Wednesday in the Epwirth Church, their time was very well spent. Some five hundred women of our community packed the church hall for the event. Miss Winters of State College did the work . . . the nutrition classes of the Red Cross with the aid of the Womans Club Federation acted as hostesses. The event was sponsored by the Lawrence County Council of Defense Victory Garden Committee. All cooperation from the ladies was greatly appreciated . . . also the splendid support from Haney's. The Pennsylvania Power and Kirk-Hutton company. New Castle we are convinced is all out for Victory.

We have today a great number of strangers in our city . . . what do some of them think of our home town . . . There are several thoughts that might interest you . . . some say nice things and others say things that make us stop and think. Some say that New Castle is a very divided town . . . that the four sections of the city means everything to some people . . . The East, West and South sides think that the North Hill is Mortgage Hill . . . Some people say that the citizens are very "catty" in their remarks . . . they talk too much about other people's business. They love to tell what their neighbor is loing, especially when he is doing something that they think he shouldn't be doing . . . A lot have said that our police force is one of the greatest they have ever lived under. New Castle is known far and wide for its ability to capture law breakers . . . look over our records and you will see that this statement is true . . . All is not black . . . In the eyes of strangers. They will get to love our city dearly in a few months.

ST. LOUIS—Andy Pilney, former backfield football star at Notre Dame university, recently scored a hole-in-one—the dream of every golf player. Motors Are Included In New Rise—Rally Of Yesterday Continues

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market moved higher today in a continuation of the rally which developed in the last hour yesterday.

Leaders in the new rise included the motors, some of which hit new highs, and the chemicals. Gains ran to over a point in some instances, but most shares were up fractions.

Both Chrysler and General Motors were features, each rising to new 1942 highs of 61¾ and 37¾, respectively. Others to reach new peaks included Montgomery Ward and American Can. The latter was up a point at one time.

Chemicals showed the best gains, with Dow up 2 to 106, Du Pont a point to 111 and Union Carbide more than a point to almost 65. Some of the high price specialties enjoyed substantial gains, as Coca-Cola up 1½ points to 72½ and American Tobacco B up a point.

Steels were steady. U. S. and Youngstown edged up slightly and coppers displayed some irregularity, with Kennecott and Anaconda off small fractions.

Congressman Graham On Job At 6 In Mornings

Congressman Louis E. Graham gets some wide publicity this week through the publication of "Washington Is Like This" written by Willard M. Kiplinger which records a mass of interesting details about Washington and the official life there. Among the items listed for 6 a. m. in Washington the book says "Representative Graham (R) Pa., earliest of the early birds among members of Congress arrives at his office."

Fred W. Perkins, veteran Washington correspondent takes up the early rising of Congressman Graham with the following interesting comment in his column.

It is true. You can almost set your watch by the minute when the rotund Louis E. Graham of Beaver, Beaver County, says "good morning" to the guards at the House Office Building.

"It's a habit," says Mr. Graham. "I've always like to get up early, and still do, at 4:45. That gives me just time to shave and get some breakfast and get to the office, just at 6."

This may not be so remarkable in Pittsburgh and other industrial cities. But it sure is something in this town, which has not a single factory whistle, is accused of being several months behind the country in making up its mind on national policy, and certainly is two or three hours behind in the matter of getting out of bed.

Mr. Graham's early-rising habit is more than a habit. He has found that it is helpful to his constituents. Much of his district is highly industrial, with no less than 395 manufacturing plants—all at present looking for war-production contracts. His visitors have a habit of getting in from Pittsburgh on the 6:25 a. m. train and all of them want to do their business in time to catch the 1:15 p. m. back to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Graham is forced to explain apologetically that the officials downtown can't be seen until 9 or maybe 10 o'clock. If you get there too early he says, "The early worm catches the bird," bird meaning raspberry.

The early-rising Pennsylvanian has another habit of always answering House roll calls and of attending all its sessions. In nearly four years he has missed one day, when he was out with the lumbago. He has missed one roll call, when somebody held him too long on the long-distance telephone.

That is darn near a record, but isn't. Mr. Graham is merely runner-up to Representative Paul Brown (D) Ga., who in eight years has never missed a session or a roll call.

USO Workers Urged To Go Over The Top

Every Prospect To Be Solicited Before Drive Is Ended Is Word Today

USO Drive Chairman, Roger W. Rowland hoped today that all team captains and workers in the USO drive will keep on the job until their quota is filled. Victory is in sight providing every prospective contributor is solicited, he said.

Among the day's additional contributors were the employees of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corporation and the North Hill Unit for Home Defense, with $218.41 and $57.00 respectively.

Reports are to be made at the YMCA building for the balance of the drive. So far, eleven divisions have passed their quota and it is hoped that workers in the rest of the divisions will keep working until they reach their quota.

"New Castle has always carried its share of the burden in all charitable drives," said Rowland, "and we feel sure that our people will not let down their boys, for whom this USO drive is being made.

Licenses Issued To 120 Grocers For Stamp Plan

Preparing To Inaugurate Food Stamp Plan In County By End Of Month

At the second and final registration meeting for New Castle grocers' participation in the Federal Food Stamp Plan, about 70 grocers were licensed at the courthouse last night, making a total of 120 grocers in New Castle and northern Lawrence county eligible to handle the orange and blue stamps. The registration was handled by the head of the Pennsylvania Federal Surplus Marketing Administration, Mr. Wilson, and two of the Pittsburgh supervisors, Wm. J. Gleason and A. Erbeck.

The Lawrence county grocers food stamp committee was pleased with last night's turnout and they are able to assure participants in the food stamp program of places to handle the stamps within reach of every county resident.

It is expected that the first food stamps will go on sale to relief families in Lawrence county by the end of June, and the Federal experts estimated that the stamps could bring about $140,000 new business a year to grocers and wholesalers in the county.

There will be a meeting tonight for Ellwood City grocers, in the Municipal building, at eight p. m.

Friday: The Day Of Suffering

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

The crucifixion

"He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed."—Isaiah 53:5.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 7 is Luke 23:33-46; Mark 15:33, 34 (compare John 19:25-30), the Golden Text being Isaiah 53:5, "He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed.")

The place where our Lord was crucified was called Golgotha, or the place of a skull. Some think it was so called because the mound at that place is shaped somewhat like a skull; others think it was given that name because it was there dead bodies were thrown.

Jesus was nailed to the cross, and on each side of Him were hung a thief—a common criminal, who was probably not only a thief, but a murdered. This was the final humiliation of One who had done nothing but good in the short time He was upon the earth. This punishment was probably planned by those who feared him, so as to show their contempt for the Man who had dared to tell them they were hypocrites and scoundrels.

One of the robbers derided Him, saying, "If Thou be Christ, save thyself and us." But the other chided him, saying, "Dost not thou fear God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation? And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing amiss.

"And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest to Thy kingdom.

"And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Never Too Late

It is never too late to repent of even a life of wickedness, you see. This man could not have been wholly bad. He saw that he deserved his punishment and repented, and was forgiven.

Over Jesus' head a sign had been hung at Pilate's command, reading, "This is the King of the Jews." The chief priests and Scribes didn't like this, and protested to Pilate, but he refused to have it changed. And the people stood looking at Him in His agony, and the rulers also, the latter jesting and sneering at Him, saying, "He saved others; let Him save Himself, if He be Christ, the chosen of God."

Four soldiers were detailed to guard the crucified men, and they took Jesus' garments, divided them into four parts, and cast lots for them. During the hours when Christ hung on the cross He spoke seven times. When the soldiers were nailing Him to the cross, He said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." These words are typical of His teaching on earth, forgive your enemies, do good to those that despitefully use you.

The second was what He said to the repentant thief. The third was to His mother, Mary, who knelt at the foot of the cross, and to His most beloved disciple. To His mother, He said, "Woman, behold thy son"; and to the disciple, John, "Behold thy mother." "From that hour," John tells us, "that disciple took her into his own home."

The fourth saying of our Lord was apparently a cry of anguish, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Did He indeed feel that His Father had forsaken Him? I think not, only the man Jesus suffered as a man and cried out as a man would.

At the sixth hour the sky had darkened and some of the accounts say there was a great earthquake, which frightened the watchers. The veil of the temple, which separated the Holy of Holies from the rest of the temple was "rent in twain from the top to the bottom."

"After this, Jesus knowing that things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst."

There was a vessel of vinegar or sour wine near by, probably put there for the soldiers who guarded Him to quench their thirst. One of them took a sponge on a long branch and held it to His mouth. John says that Jesus received it; others that He refused it. And He said, "It is finished," which is His sixth saying, and then, "Father, into Thy hands I commend My spirit."

At the ninth hour, when Jesus had given up the ghost, the centurion who stood near the cross said, "Truly this man was the Son of God." It would be interesting to know what impression this scene had on this soldier's after life. Did he, like the thief, repent of his sins and did he join the band of Christ's followers? We do not know, of course.

So ends the life of the Christ Man, Jesus, on earth. Only to His disciples and close friends did He appear again after the resurrection, and then He was with them only for a short time. We suffer when we think of this time, but by His death He brought life to the world—everlasting life.

Paulette Goddard Silent Regarding Chaplin Divorce

Coast Paper Says Screen Star Obtained Divorce In Mexico Week Ago

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 4.—Paulette Goddard's birthday party in a swank East Side night club failed to develop an answer today to the question of whether or not she is still Mrs. Charles Chaplin.

Asked about her reported Mexican divorce from the film comedian she replied:

"No comment."

A question concerning her age brought the answer:

"What do you think, I'm crazy?"

The Los Angeles Evening Herald and Express yesterday published a story it had learned from "confidential and reliable" sources that Paulette obtained a divorce in Mexico a week ago from Chaplin.
